SLEEP APNEA PROGRAM · PRICING PLAYBOOK

dandy

Bill less. Lower the out-of-pocket. Win by volume.

$2,500
Bill the patient less
Cap your MAD fee at $2,500.

→

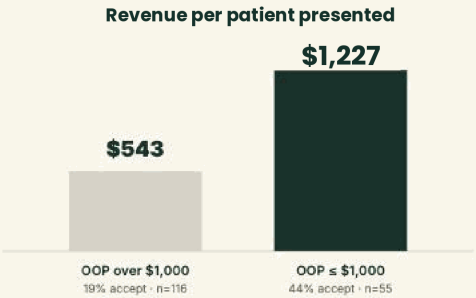

≤ $1,000
Their OOP drops
After insurance, the patient owes about $1,000 or less.

→

2.3×
Acceptance jumps
44% say yes under $1,000 — vs. 19% above it.

WHY VOLUME BEATS MARGIN

You don't bank the list price — you bank list × acceptance. In one practice's own data, patients owing over $1,000 produced $543 per patient presented. Patients owing $1,000 or less produced $1,227 — from a nearly identical case fee. More yeses at a lower price is simply more money, plus twice the treated patients in your chairs.

THE PLAY

Bill the patient less, get their out-of-pocket lower, and case acceptance goes up. Win by volume.

2.3×
revenue per patient presented

2×
treated patients per 10 presented

Source: partner-practice treatment log, 2026 — 171 MAD presentations with billing detail, 46 accepted (recorded acceptance dates). Revenue per patient presented = average case fee × acceptance rate; fees include estimated insurance reimbursement plus patient payment.

CASE STUDY · HOOVER DENTAL · SLEEP APNEA PROGRAM

dandy

$3,500 didn't sell. $2,500 did.

Same practice, same patients, same device — one change to the list price.

01 Diagnosed, not treated

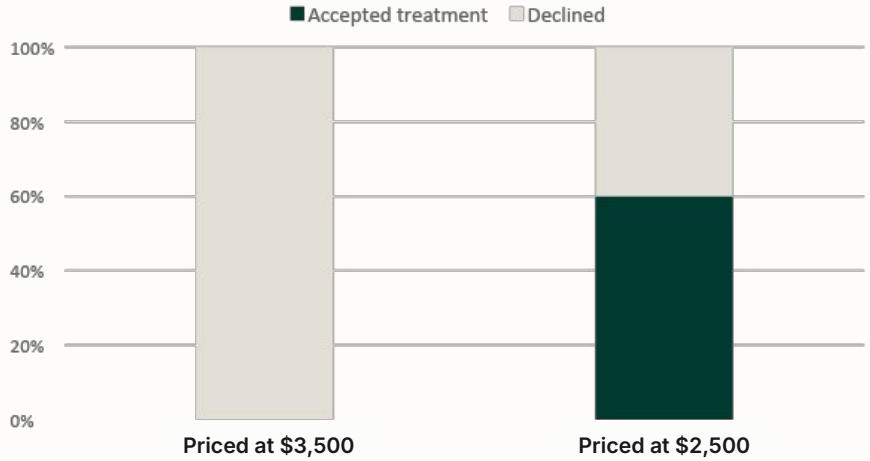

Three patients presented for a mandibular advancement device, listed at $3,500.

02 Every one said no

All three declined. Cost was the objection in every single case.

03 Repriced with Dandy

Hoover reset the list price to $2,500 — and acceptance jumped to 60%.

THE TAKEAWAY

Cap MAD pricing at $2,000–$2,500. Volume beats margin.

60%	$5K+	$1,000
treatment acceptance	profit, month one	lower list price

dandy

What else can I bill for?

$150–$200
Consult fees
Diagnostic and treatment-planning visits.

+

$100–$300
Imaging
CBCT and other diagnostic imaging.

→

$250–$500
Extra, per case
On top of your MAD fee.

WE'LL HELP YOU BILL IT

Dandy can help you bill for consult fees, CBCT, and other imaging — and we're happy to submit these to insurance on your behalf.

GOOD TO KNOW

Insurance coverage for these fees is variable. You're responsible for discussing these fees with your patients before treatment.

Fees are typical ranges and vary by practice and region. Insurance reimbursement is not guaranteed — confirm patient responsibility before treatment.